Thankfulness

I must thank the creator for my life's day-to-day functions. I must pray in my own Indian way each morning to ask for help and each evening to give thanks to the Creator for what he has given that day.

We learn to give thanks: to always be thankful for the Creator's bounty, which we are privileged to share with others, and for all the kind things others do for us. - Elder Mary Lee

Cleanliness

I must be clean and live clean both physically and spiritually. The cleanliness of both body and soul is regarded to the importance of good health.

Today when we talk about cleanliness, most people think hygiene, and that's very important. But years ago, when old people talked about cleanliness they meant spiritual cleanliness. When I used to sit with the old Kookums in their tipis, spiritually, they were so powerfully clean. Clean thoughts come from a clean mind and this comes from our spirituality. With a clean mind and a sense of peace within we have not to inflict ill on others. Good health habits also reflect a clean mind.

Attendance

Winter weather, the snow and cold temperatures, can present challenges to getting children to school. So can colds, fevers and earaches that seem to increase during the winter months. We can't change the weather, but we can remind our children that getting enough rest, eating healthy and hand washing are important steps in helping them stay healthy. We can also have a back-up plan to get our children to school if, for instance, our vehicles won't start. Let's continue to build the habit of good attendance during the winter months as we look forward to spring!

#PINKSHIRTDAY

Pink Shirt Day is about working together to stop bullying by celebrating diversity and promoting positive social relationships. It's about creating a community where all people feel safe, valued & respected, regardless of age, sex, gender identity, sexual orientation, ability, or cultural background. Kindness starts here. So, wear your pink shirt on February 24th to show your support for positivity, kindness & diversity. Let's show how much Queen Mary Cares!
